PRENTICE TO GREELEY.

[We find the following beautiful tribute to Horace Greeley, from the pen of George D. Prentice, of the Louisville Journal, in a late number of the New York Ledger:

TO A POLITICAL OPPONENT.

BY GEORGE D. PRENTICE.

I send thee, Greeley, words of cheer,
Thou bravest, truest, best of men;
For I have marked thy strong career,
As traced by thy own sturdy pen;
I've seen thy struggles with the foes
That dared thee to the desperate fight,
And loved to watch thy goodly blows
Dealt for the cause thou deem'st the right.

Thou'st dared to stand against the wrong
When many faltered by thy side;
In thy own strength has dared be strong,
Nor on another's arm relied.
Thy own bold thoughts thou'st dared to think
Thy own great purposes avowed;
And none have ever seen thee shrink
From the fierce surges of the crowd.

Thou all unaided and alone,
Didst take thy way in life's young years,
With no kind hand clasped in thy own,
No gentle voice to soothe thy tears.
But thy high heart no power could tame,
And thou hast never ceased to feel,
Within thy veins a sacred flame
That turned thy iron nerves to steel.

I know that thou art not exempt
From all the weaknesses of earth,
For passion comes to rouse and tempt
The truest souls of mortal birth.
But thou hast well fulfilled thy trust,
In spite of love and hope and fear,
And e'en the tempest's thunder-gust
But clears thy spirit's atmosphere.

Thou still art in thy manhood's prime,
Still foremost mid thy fellow men,
Though in each year of all thy time
Thou hast compressed three score and ten.
Oh, may each blessed sympathy,
Breathed on thee with a tear and sigh,
A sweet flower in thy pathway be,
A bright star in thy clear blue sky.

History of the 49th Pennsylvania.

BY A. B. HUTCHISON,
Late Captain of Company 'C.'

CHAPTER XIII.

The Rebels Escape into the Mountains—March to Emmettsburg—March to and over the Kittoctin Mountains—No Rations—Rain and Mud—Camp at Middletown—March over South Mountain to Boonesboro—March to Antietam Creek—March to Funkstown and Hagerstown—Skirmishes and Captures—An idle Day—Retreat of the Enemy across the River—Pursuit and Capture of Rear Guard.

The rebels had got into the gap of the mountains, and their rear guard were ready to dispute our further advance by fortifying the narrow pass through which the road ran, in order to give their troops time to get through the mountains. Hundreds deserting them in the woods, made their way to our lines, or gave themselves up to citizens, generally professing to be Union men desirous of escaping from the service of Rebellion. Our own citizens were generally unable to give us any information of value as to the force of the enemy, or their condition, having been apparently too frighted to observe, or too ignorant of such matters to be able to estimate the strength of the forces they had seen. So we went into our bivouac in line of battle, and lay down to sleep, at Fairfield. Next day, the 6th of July, we moved through the village, and then remained in camp till evening, not being occupied in any particular duties.

We marched, during the night of the sixth, to Emmettsburg, Md., passing along the east side of the mountains.—The road was a hard one, down the banks of a small stream, and the marching at night exceedingly wearisome. The people seemed to be glad to see us, but were not generally very much interested in the war, except so far as it affected them. They wanted us to drive the rebels away, and then go ourselves. War was a burden to them not easy to be borne. We were very short of rations, and found next to nothing in the country. The people were willing to sell what little provisions they had, but supplies were very limited. We got to Emmettsburg at dawn, and found a number of the other corps of the army, who had come by a different and shorter road.—We lay down for a few hours here, and then succeeded in getting some hard tack from another division, just enough to give us two crackers apiece. At ab't ten o'clock we moved on, passing the Catholic Institutions of Learning, which are so well known as Emmettsburg's chief distinguishing characteristic—the Nunnery of St. Mary, and the Monastery and College of St. Joseph. It had begun to rain slowly, and as we had but two crackers apiece, we found our long march—for it was continued all day and night—a very tedious one. We rested at a mill, in the afternoon, and our men got some flour and meal, which was a great relief to most of them, as they were extremely hungry and tired. A distillery, near, was also discovered, and its exhilirating fluid, in considerable quantities, was devoted to strengthening the arms and cheering the hearts of the Union's defenders. There being so many thirsty, and but a small supply of the spirits, there were none who got more than they could carry comfortably. Towards evening, we moved on, and passing through the village of Mechanicsville, were favored with a very cordial reception, by the ladies, who received our troops with the most extravagant manifestations of joy. Our boys responded, of course, and the bands struck up at once, in acknowledgement of the honor shown us. We marched steadily on by Lewistown, and the furnaces of that name, and then turned off the main road, and took a rough country road, leading to a Pass of the Kitoctin mountains.

It had been raining considerably towards the evening, and now, as we approached the mountain foot, it grew dark very rapidly, and the rain fell in torrents. As we had marched all of the previous day and night, and were starting, in darkness and rain, to cross these great mountains, by a rough mountain road, the prospect was not cheering, and if the army in Flanders, or any where else, swore any more emphatically than the sixth corps crossing the Kitoctin mountain that night in the rain, they must have invented some very original forms of profanity. Our Artillery had to turn back, the road being utterly impassable to them. It was steep and rocky, in some places running with torrents of water—in others with liquid mud. Our men were exhausted, and many of them being without shoes, suffered from the rough road terribly. Our progress was extremely slow, and when we got over the sumit of the range, to a little collection of cabins dignified by the name of Hamburg, but which our men called Humbug, not more than one tenth of the men were to be found. It was too dark to see any one. They had lain down in the rain and mud all along the road, and, as those of us who did get through, had nothing to eat, and had been on the march for near 36 hours, and traveled near forty miles, we also lay down in the mud and rain, and went to sleep, not even trying to keep clean or dry—to build fires, or, in any way, to attempt to ease up the roughness of the situation. It rained on and on till, at about ten o'clock next morning, when we moved down the mountain to near Middletown, Md. We halted at the foot of the mountains, at a creek, and the men walked into the swollen stream and washed the mud off their clothes and themselves. They could not get any wetter than they were. But now the sun came out warm and bright, and we lay ourselves out to dry in a clover-field, and felt rested and cheered after our rough night march. Rations were promised us soon, and we waited in hope. A farmer near had a flock of sheep, but refused to sell them at any price, though we were hungry enough to pay almost any am't for something to eat. His sheep were nearly all killed by themen, at any rate, and he lost them, as no one could be found who knew anything about the sheep, though mutton was quite plenty in some of the camps.

Our supply train now came up, and we got plenty of meat, hard-bread and coffee, and were again equipped, fully, for the pursuit of the rebels, except that our men's shoes were giving out, and many of them were barefoot, and footsore.

Next day, July 9, we crossed South mountain, by the National turnpike, over the ground where the Ninth corps had fought so gallantly, in September, 1862, and encamped near Boonsboro, on the west side of the mountain. We remained in line all day as there were indications that we were closing upon the enemy. Next day we moved forward about two miles, to Antietam creek, and remained in line of battle all day. In the evening we got shoes for our men, greatly to their satisfaction.

On the next day, the 11th of July, we advanced our skirmishers over the creek, but did not change the position of the troops, and all was quiet. Our men took advantage of the opportunity to wash their clothing, and themselves, in Antietam creek. It is needless to say we were all exceedingly dirty.

On the twentieth we moved to Funkstown, and through it, over the Antietam bridge, driving the rebel skirmishers ahead of us. They had a few rifle-pits on the banks of the creek, but did not try to hold them.

Our troops got into Hagerstown about noon. Our brigade moving off to the left of the town, into the woods, near the Sharpsburg pike, again encountered the rebels, and drove in their skirmishers. They showed some fight here, and the 6th Maine captured a full company of them, by getting in their rear, under cover of the woods. Capt. E. T. Swain, of our regiment, with his company, "B," drove the rebel skirmishers to their rifle pits in the evening, but got shot through the thigh, and severely wounded, while doing it.

The enemy's works here appeared very strong, and well manned. We expected to be ordered to assault them in the morning, and felt sufficiently encouraged to think we could take them.

Nothing was done on the next day, however, as it seemed our leaders were not prepared to risk a battle. Our corps was the only one then in a condition to fight, and the enemy appeared strongly posted, and were desperate and must fight hard.

It was a mistake, however, not to attack, for, on the night of the 13th, the rebels retreated, and when we got into their works next morning, we found most of their pits to have been wheat sheaves and rails, covered over with dirt dug down, a ditch just large enough to cover a single line of men, while all the evidences showed that but one line had been kept in the works, and the rest of the army had been moved over the river. The waters of the Potomac were quite high, and Lee had trouble with his pontoon bridge, so that when we got to it, we found several hundred of the rear guard, and some wagons still on this side, and captured them and the bridge. A large number of horses were drowned and wagons swept away in attempting to pass over the ford at Williamsport, and citizens said a number of men also were drowned. There were, everywhere, evidences of the hasty retreat, distress and demoralization of Lee's army when it recrossed the Potomac from its last invasion of free soil, It was destined now to go on to the southward, and, though it fought long and well before the final catastrophe, it never recovered from Gettysburg's defeat, and never marched northward, or saw the waters of the Potomac again.

We went into camp at Williamsport, and remained there till morning, when we prepared to commence our march again in pursuit of Lee.

The Tax Bill.

Somebody proposes the following new amendments of the Tax bill:

For kissing a pretty girl, one dollar.

For kissing a homely one, two dollars—the extra amount being added probably for the man's folly.

For courting in the kitchen, twenty-five cents.

Courting in the parlor, one dollar.

Courting in romantic places five dollars, and fifty centr ithereafter.

Seeing a lady home from church, twenty five cents.

Going from church without accompanying a lady, five dollars.

Seeing a lady home from Mite Society, five cents—the proceeds to be devoted to the relief of disabled army chaplains.

For ladies who paint, fifty cents.

For wearing a low-necked dress, one dollar.

For each curl on a lady's head, above ten, five cents.

For any unfair device for entrapping young men into matrimony, five dollars.

For wearing hoops larger than eight feet in circumference, eight cents for each hoop.

Old bachelors over thirty are taxed ten dollars, and banished to Utah.

Each pretty lady is to be taxed from twenty-five cents to twenty-five dollars; she is to fix the estimate of her own beauty. It is thought a very large amount is to be realized from this provision.

Each boy baby, fifty cents.

Each girl baby, ten cents.

Families having more than eight babies are not to be taxed; and for twins a premium of forty dollars will be paid out of the funds accruing from the tax on old bachelors.

Each Sunday loafer on the street corners or about church doors to be taxed his value which is about two cents.

Not long since, a green-looking Vermonter walked into the office of Dr. C. T. Jackson, chemist. "Dr. Jackson, I presume?" said he.

"Yes sir."

"Are you alone?"

"Yes sir."

"May I lock the door?" and he did so; and having looked behind the sofa and satisfied himself that no one else was in the room, he placed a large bundle done up in a yellow bandanna on the table and opened it, "There doctor, look at that."

"Well said the doctor, I see it.

"What do you call that, doctor?"

"I call it iron pyrites."

"What!" said the man, isn't that stuff gold?"

"No," said the man, "it's good for nothing; it's pyrites" and putting some over the fire in a shovel it evaporated up the chimney.

"Well," said the poor fellow with a woe begone look, "There's a widder woman up in our town who a has whole hill full of that, and I've been and married her."

INFLUENCE OF CHIDREN'S PRAYERS.—In one of the darkest periods of the Reformation, when Luther, Melancthon, and others, were assembled to consult upon what should be done, Melancthon retired from the council under great dejection of spirit. After a short time he returned, his countenance beaming with confidence and joy; and when all were surprised at the change, he told them that he had just seen a sight which assured him of success. He had seen some little children engaged in prayer for the Reformation. Their mothers, who had assembled for the same purpose, had brought them together; and he was assured such prayers would be heard of God. Courage in the needful hour for the greatest work ever accomplished by uninspired men, was thus breathed into the soul by children's prayers. Such prayers the church need yet. Children, do you pray—not only for father and mother, for brother and sister, but also for the Church of God and the world?

A YOUNG minister, whose reputation for veracity was not very good, once ventured to differ with an old doctor of divinity as to the efficacy of the use of the rod.

"Why," said he, "the only time my father ever whipped me it was for telling the truth."

"Well," retorted the doctor, "it cured you of it, didn't it?"

GOOD ADVICE.—Reader, did you ever enjoy the estatic bliss of courting? If you didn't, then get a little gal and try.

The Apostles Creed.

The precise origin of the simplest and most ancient of all the creeds is involved in some uncertainty, and has long been a matter of dispute among learned theologians. It is at least certain that its universal use in the Church may be traced back, if not to the apostolic age itself, yet to that immediately succeeding; and there is a very old tradition that each of the twelve articles of the creed was composed by an apostolic author.

It is said the twelve assembled in council before dispersing themselves to preach the Gosple throughout the world, to frame the symbol or watchword of the Christian Church, and it will be interesting to our readers to know the apostle to whom each article is ascribed. The tradition is as follows:

St. Peter—"I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth,"

St. Andrew—"And in Jesus Christ his only Son our Lord:"

St. James the Great—"Who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary."

St. John—"suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead and buried,"

St. Thomas—"He descended into hell;" [or "He went into a place of departed spirits," which are considered as words of the same meaning], "the third day he arose from the dead:"

St. James the Less—"He ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty.

St. Philip—"From thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead:"

St. Bartholomew—"I believe in the Holy Ghost:

St. Matthew—"The Holy Catholic Church; the Communion of Saints:"

St. Simon—"The Forgiveness of sins;

St. Judas Thaddeus—"Resurrection of the body:"

St. Matthias—"And the Life everlasting—Amen."

A BEAUTIFUL SENTIMENT.—Life bears us on like the stream of a mighty river. Our boat first glides down the mighty channel—through the playful murmurings of the little brook and the windings of its grassy borders. The trees shed their blossoms over our young heads; the flowers seem to offer themselves to the young hands; we are happy in hope, and grasp eagerly at the beauties around us but the stream hurries on, and still our hands are empty. Imperialism.

A few weeks since we published an article in relation to the Imperialist, a sickly newspaper started in New York a short time ago, in the interest of a monarchy for the United States, and about which Democratic journals got up a fictitious alarm, because, as they avowed, it was in the interest of the Radicals, has promptly rebuked them by declaring against GRANT and the Radicals, and advocating a despotism with the rebel Gen. LEE at its head. By reference to our former article, our readers will see that this is just as we predicted. We declared that it was started in the interest of the Democratic party, as every monarchist in the United States or England sympathized with that party, and that it was edited by a Rebel, a Democratic rebel sympathizer, or an unnaturalized Englishman. We also affirmed that it was started by English and rebel money, and run in the interest of Free Trade Democracy and England.

Now that it has chosen Gen. ROBERT E. LEE for its chief despot, all doubts are cleared away and its Democratic proclivities fully established.

Gen. LEE, P. G. MEEK'S favorite General, appointed, or chosen to the Throne, will, of course, settle the question as far as the Watchman is concerned, and hereafter, no doubt, we will have earnest articles in that notoriously disloyal sheet in favor of monarchy, ROB'T. E. LEE, free trade, the Imperialist, and the English nation generally. Those Democratic leaders, North and South, are, and have been monarchists at heart for many years. They will, of course, now go with the Imperialist and their favorite Gen. LEE. They are disciples of JOHN C. CALHOUN, who, years ago, declared himself not only in favor of States Rights, but in favor of a monarchy or an aristocratic Government. He declared in a letter that "We, the people of the South, are not Democratic, but aristocratic; that we vote and act with the Democrats of the North simply because that through them we control the Government." But, said CALHOUN, in the same letter, "whenever we fail to control the Government through the Democracy of the North, then we will secede and establish for ourselves a new Government, an Aristocracy or Monarchy." The Watchman has never ceased to preach the doctrines of JOHN C. CALHOUN—it advocated that the rebellion was right, and that the effort on the part of the United States Government to suppress the rebellion was wrong, and denounced ABRAHAM LINCOLN as a tyrant for attempting to save the Union and the national life. The rebels, in MEEK'S estimation, were gentlemen, fighting for their rights, their firesides and their homes; while the "Boys in Blue" were "Lincoln hirelings," "cut throats," "robbers and thieves." Mr. MEEK has, moreover, always been a great admirer of Gen. LEE, justifying all his acts, praising his strategy, and lauding his military skill to the heavens.

Can any one doubt the course MEEK will pursue, now that the Imperialist has come out openly in opposition to GRANT and the Radicals, and in favor of a monarchy—a despotism, with ROBERT E. LEE at its head? Poor MEEK! his advocacy of CALHOUN-ism will yet ruin him. It has ruined the Democratic party. Their only hope of success, of political resurrection from the graves in which they have so long been reposing, mouldering, rotting—is through the establishment of a monarchy and the agency of BRITISH GOLD.

Vain hope! Your doom is sealed. The intelligent people of the United States will never trust you more. They abhor and condemn your record. They scorn you as they do the record and actions of the TORIES of the Revolution. You are on the downward road. The Imperialist cannot save you. General ROB'T. E. LEE, rebel, and traitor, and perjured villain as he is, cannot save you. Treason and CALHOUN-ism have weighed down the Democratic party. Its tendency is downwards, down, down, and it will continue to go down until it finds its level in its native hell, with the Father of lies, and the original advocate of State Rights and secession—BEELZEBUB—the Prince of Devils.

WE learn from an exchange that the salaries of clerks in Broadway, New York, range from one hundred to four thousand dollars. The four thousand dollars exceptions are exceedingly rare. A thousand would be a large average. The Broadway clerk must be at his post by eight o'clock or fined; is kept on his feet all day, with barely time to swallow a lunch at noon, and is free at seven and as tired as a farm laborer. In the busy season he is frequently employed until midnight and in dull times is always liable to be discharged. And this is the life that is so often preferred to that of the mechanic who is always sure of larger wages, and better opportunities to make his way in the world.

CROWDED OUT.—The Phil'a. Markets. No changes since last week.

The Democracy "Caving In."

Gilbert C. Walker, who has been adopted by the Rebel Democracy of Virginia, as their candidate for Governor, declared in his Lynchburg speech on the 15th inst., that he was in favor of "UNIVERSAL AMNESTY AND IMPARTIAL SUFFRAGE."

"Impartial Suffrage" he defined to mean an equal right of Suffrage for the white and the black man.

The Northern wing of the Democracy are preparing to "cave." The Chicago Times—the great Democratic organ in the Northwest—last week treated the question thus:

"The question of negro suffrage may perhaps be regarded as a dead issue. Democrats do not believe in what is called "human equality," as the doctrine is taught by Radicals of the present day, in this country, but they do believe in obedience to the constitution, and if the Fifteenth Amendment shall be ratified by the requisite number of States, the Democracy make no factious opposition to its enforcement."

This extract establishes two propositions:

First. That the Democracy of the present day do not believe in the theory of the Declaration of Independence or of Thomas Jefferson, its author, as to human rights. In other words, it is a confession that they have departed from the "old landmarks," and have become a party of class, caste, and aristocratic ideas. This has been long apparent, but its frank avowal by a leading newspaper must convince the most sceptical that the principles of Slavery have thoroughly debauched and corrupted the Democratic party, and have rendered it no longer safe to trust it with the control of the country.

Second. The articles proclaims that the discretion of the Democracy will be more than equal to their favor; and that when Universal suffrage shall be established they will try to get as many colored voters for their ticket as can be bribed, bullied, or humbugged to act with them.

We think we can already see, in imagination, how lovingly Copperhead politicians will lead their colored comrades to the polls.

It will be, at first, awkward for the Democracy of Columbia; but then when the party is to be served by any sacrifice of principle, have they not always been in haste to sacrifice it? And can't they be again trusted to go down deep and come up dirty, as they loved to do in old Slavery times?—Bloomsburg Republican.

The Irish Republican.

The Executive Committee of the National Irish Union Republican Association, in accordance with instructions given them by authority of the public meeting at which they were appointed, have issued a long, earnest and eloquent address to their fellow countrymen and fellow citizens, in the course of which they say:

We call on every Irish American on this continent, by his duty to his religion and his God, by the free instincts of his race, and by the hope of the independence of his country, to come out of this polluted camp of injustice and oppression, and to range himself under the glorious Republican banner, which secures liberty, fully and forever, to each and all to whom God has given it.

The tremendous conflict from which America lately emerged was one in which men's souls were tried. To the brave men who took their lives in their hands, and rushed to the defense of the Republic, we owe everlasting obligations. Among them we are proud to say that our countrymen occupied no secondary part. Fredericksburg, and Fair Oaks, and Gettysburg, and many a hard fought field beside, saw thousands of them lay down their lives that liberty and the Union might live. And since peace has returned, we are glad indeed to bear record that, regardless of all previous political connections or association, most of them have voted as they fought. Hence, of Irish Republican votes at the last Presidential contest, perhaps considerably over one hundred thousand were cast for Grant and Colfax. Of these a number of the leading spirits came to Washington to attend the inauguration on the 4th of March. On mutual consultation all were agreed upon the need of a more perfect organization. A meeting was called by public notice, and a series of resolutions agreed to, which are to be regarded as the platform of the party.

The great importance, indeed we may venture to say the absolute necessity, of such an organizatien has long been manifest to all who take an enlightened interest in the welfare of our race, in the preservation of our free republican institutions, and in the progress of true liberty all over the world.

The Irishman in American Politics.

The most surprising anomaly in American politics at this moment is the Irishman, but especially the Irish Catholic. From that beautiful country there comes to our shores a never ending, constantly augmenting, stream of the descendants of those whose lives, for seven centuries, have been embittered by English conquest, violence and spoliation. Peeled and scourged as no other people, save the children of Israel, have been, these Irishmen seek our shores for peace, for freedom, and for the plenty which obstructive tyranny has denied them at home. And no sooner do they reach our shore than their every act seems to indicate a forgetfulness of the injustice they and their forefathers have suffered at the hands of their English tyrants.

It would be idle to attempt to give a synopsis of the cruelty which the Irish people have suffered at the hands of conquerors in the space at our disposal; but a meagre outline of the conspicuous acts of barbaric cruelty they have suffered, will furnish Irishmen, who think, strong reasons, and stronger motives, for changing their political course in this country.

The period from the landing of William the Conqueror to the execution of Charles I, may be fitly described, so far as Ireland is concerned, as centuries of slaughter, rapine and robbery. No higher estimate was placed on the life of an Irish Catholic than on that of a wild beast; and not so high a value as on a good horse or dog. Every indignity which vengeance and contempt could imagine was inflicted. The right to life and the security in property were disregarded alike. Repressive laws were enacted by the English Parliament for no other apparent reason or object than to remind the conquered people of the tyranny which held them under foot. Every attempt to develop the unquestioned splendor of Irish genius was met by laws which excluded them from public preferment. Every effort to improve the condition of the population was smothered by laws which blasted their industry. The mere fact of one of her sons being an Irishman, loaded him with ridicule and derision. His religion, clung to as it was, and now is, with a tenacity as unyielding as that of any race on earth, was but an aggravation of his unbearable and unjust persecutions. And the ingenuity of his English tyrants was taxed to its uttermost to repress his aspiration, to destroy his country, and persecute his faith.

To this savage persecution, the Irishman opposed an enmity no less unquenchable; and on the execution of Charles, and the accession of Cromwell, the nation made an effort to free itself from its manifold woes. But the very Englishmen who had driven the Stuarts and their tyranny from England, became leagued in perpetuating a more distasteful tyranny on Ireland. When the effort to cast off the yoke was made, Cromwell marched his invincible legions into that bleeding country, and in the words of an eminent historian, "He subjugated Ireland, as Ireland had never been subjugated during the five centuries of slaughter which had elapsed since the landing of the first Norman settlers.—He resolved to put an end to that conflict of races and religion which had so distracted the Island, by making the English and Protestant population decidedly predominant. For this end he gave the rein to the fierce enthusiasm of his followers, waged war resembling that which Israel waged on the Cananites, smote the idolaters with the edge of the sword, so that great cities were left without inhabitants, drove many thousands to the West Indies, and supplied the void thus made by pouring in numerous colonists, of the Anglo-Saxon blood, and of the Calvinistic faith."

From that time they have been under that rule, but they have not ceased to struggle fiercely, but without the power to cast off the yoke. They struggle at this moment for freedom, but their tyrants will not relieve them.—while we write, the ruling class in England, with the stubborness of Pharoh, refuses to let them worship the God of their Fathers in peace, and insists that they shall support a worship which they believe to be Idolatry.

In Ireland every Irish Catholic is burning with zeal to free his country and to cripple her remorseless destroyer. But every year hundreds of thousands, through want and disappointment, leave the island, never to return. They carry with them a love of country which commands the respect of mankind, and a desire for vengeance on her spoiler, which even religion cannot wholly condemn. But it is in America alone that we find this natural fury against England confused, and dissipated, and futile, because of the political attitude of the Irish people. No sooner do they reach our country than they throw themselves into the embrace of the Democratic party; and from that moment they become the unconscious tools of the very nation which has, by its injustice, driven them forth as wanderers.

There is something pitiable in the sight of a people whose hospitality and gallantry have become historic befooled by a mere name, and led in blind ignorance of their folly to the support of their worst foes. They almost universally vote with a political party in this country which upheld slavery, while the unbroken testimony of the papacy was against that accursed institution, and the abhorrence of Daniel O'Connell was open and violent against it. They vote the Democratic ticket, and by that act favor the supremacy of their British masters, by aiding them to destroy the industries of this country as they have those in Ireland. And the votes which they will cast for the same party at the next election, will be a protest against the demands of the American Government in its effort to bring England to an account for the illegal and outrageous attempt to destroy us during our civil war. No Democrat stands up against British Free Trade. No organ of that party has one word of approval of our country in the Alabama controversy. None of that party have yet purged themselves of their devotion to the institution which O'Connell and Popedom alike execrated.

We do not object to the Irishman exhibiting the quality of charity and forgiveness, even against England, but we cannot understand why it is that an ocean voyage from Queenstown to New York should change them from foes into adherents and champions of English interests. We cannot fathom the folly of their blindness. By what process does the fiery Spartan in Ireland become the cringing Helot here?

Something for Free Traders to Answer.

Suppose we take the duty off iron as the free traders desire, what would be the result, we ask? The wages are, for puddling a ton of iron in England, $3.27½; in Belgium, $1.20; in the United States, $4.37½, gold. The average weekly earnings in gold in the United States, are $16.51; in Engl'd, $8.75; in France, $8.09: and in Belgium, $6.00. The price of freight on a ton of iron from either England, Belgium or France, to New York, is not as great as from Pottsville to New York. Now cannot any person see that with such competition, under free trade, our iron establishments must close or wages must be reduced to the European rates? Recollect that in England, France and Belgium there are nearly as many iron establishments standing idle, for the want of a market for their products, as we have in the United States. In England, Wales and Scotland alone in 1867, out of 913 furnaces built, 350 were standing idle, we produced in 1867 only 1,461,626 tons against 4,761,028 produced in England. By starting these furnaces, England alone could supply us with a quantity equal to our whole product. Under free trade the iron business of the United States would have to be abandoned or wages reduced nearly one half of the present rates.—Miners' Journal.

BE CAREFUL

WHAT MEDICINES

YOU TAKE.

When you are exhausted by over-work of head or hand, and feel the need of something invigorating, don't drink whiskey nor any intoxicating thing, whether under the name strength to your weary body and mind as the whip gives to the jaded horse, and no more. Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to Nerve-health, and are ALWAYS followed by DEPRESSING REACTION.

DODD'S NERVINE & INVIGORATOR is a TONIC and GENTLE STIMULANT which is NOT attended by REACTION. What it gains for you it maintains. When it refreshes body or mind, it refreshes with natural strenght that come to stay. We are not recommending tetotalism in the interest of any faction; but long and extended observation teaches us that he who resorts to the bottle for rest or recuperation, will find, as he keeps at it, that he is kindling a fire in his bones which will consume like the flames of perdition. Turn from it. Take a tonic that will rerresh and not destroy. Dodd's Nervine is for sale by all Druggists. Price One Dollar. See book of Certificates that accompanies each bottle. je23'69-4w.

And now comple connection's made,—
An enterprising notion.

So speedily and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about,
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of the elegant and substantial Spring and Summer Clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

"GRANDFATHERS' STOVE."

Our grandfather's stove, what a funny old thing,
So deep, so wide and so tall;
Now the people would say, who are stylish and gay,
"It was only a hole in the wall."

It matters not what, it was pleasant to see
When night's mantle was flung over all;
Grandfather take down his good book and read
By the light from the hole in the wall.

As the sturdy young men rolled in the great logs,
They would laugh at each wintry squall,
Whilst grandma would sit on her old chair and knit
By the light from the whole in the wall.

The girls then wore home spun, and so did their beaux's,
For pride was a principle small;
And courting was done and hearts have been won
By the light from the hole in the wall.

The neighbors were friendly wherever they'd meet,
With a word of true kindness for all;
And joy was complete to hear voices so sweet
Ring round that old hole in the wall.

In those days we know, folks cared not for show,
Of improvements knew nothing at all;
But 'twas really no joke, when great clouds of smoke
Rushed out from the hole in the wall.

But those days are now o'er, we shall know them no more,
And all those old fashions have flown;
Whilst the solemn and gay are coming each day
To purchase the famous "OLD HOME."

Coming not only in couples, but in scores, as hundreds of good and wise men and women have done before, to look upon this magnificent stove, which is acknowledged to be the best cooking stove of the age. Remember the place, LONBERGER & HENRY'S, No. 4, Bush's Arcade, je2'69-tf. Bellefonte, Pa.

JOB WORK.—Posters, Circulars, Bill Heads, Cards, Paper Books, Job Work of all kinds, neatly executed at the REPUBLICAN Office, at reasonable rates.

SAVE MONEY.—If you want posters, circulars, bill heads, cards, paper-books, first-class job work, plain or fancy, call at the REPUBLICAN office. All work done at Philadelphia prices.

STAWBERRY FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the Episcopal Church held a strawberry Festival in Mrs. Irvin's new store room, on last Thursday evening, the 17th inst. It was well attended, and we are happy to learn, a success.

FARM FOR SALE.—Persons desiring to purchase a first rate farm, should call at, once, at the REPUBLICAN office, or upon Bond Valentine, Esq. This farm contains about 195 acres, forty acres of which are meadow. The buildings—house, barn and out-buildings—are all the very best. It is located about 1½ miles from Bellefonte. There is a great bargain in this farm. Farmers desiring a first class farm, should call and see it. Terms easy.

MERIT.—We believe in rewarding true merit wherever found. There is a diversity of talent among mankind. Some possess five, some four, some two and others but one talent. It is an established principle that every man should make good use of the talent bestowed upon him. Some use their talent as lawyers, doctors or farmers; but our young friend, and faithful ex-soldier, G. W. Welsh, employs his as a butcher and general superintendent of Jesse Morgan's first-class meet market. Mr. Welsh is a good citizen, and worthy the confidence of the community. May success attend him.

NEW HYDRANT.—Our fellow townsman and esteemed friend, D. I. Pruner, Esq., has invented a new hydrant that surpasses anything of the kind, both in its simplicity and excellence, that we have ever seen. It can be put up for $8 or $10, less than half the price of the old ones now in use in this city, and it is so constructed that, with fair play, the longer it is in use, the stronger and better it becomes. The Squire is now at work, with his inventive genius, on a self-coupler for railroad cars. We cannot describe it; but we are satisfied he will succeed, and that his "coupler" will prove a success. At least, this is our hope.

INSURANCE.—C. R. Gearhart, traveling Fire Insurance Agent, solicitor for the Farmer's Insurance Company of Danville, Pa, and the Farmer's Fire and Live-stock Insurance Companies of York, Pa. Also for the Wyoming Insurance Company of Wilkesbarre, Pa. Mr. Gearhart is a reliable and energetic young man, and represents Insurance Companies, which are safe, prompt to pay losses, and always reliable. Every body should insure their property in some good company. Persons desiring Insurance in the above companies will have the same promptly attended to by addressing C. R. Gearhart, at Bellefonte, Pa. We take pleasure in recommending Mr. Gearhart to our readers and friends.

NEWS MICHIGAN.—We received a letter, a few days ago, from our old friend, Henry C. Blair, Constantine, St. Joseph county, Michigan. We give an extract, thinking that it may be of interest to many of our readers. Mr. Blair moved from this county to Michigan several years ago, and now says that "he is doing well, and likes that State first rate," Speaking of the crops, he says: "The wheat, rye and oats are going to be very heavy, and the grass crop will be exceedingly good. The corn is small, the weather having been too cold for it. We have had a very cold, wet and backward Spring. Fruit, such as apples, peaches, pears, plumbs, cherries, in fact, fruit of all kinds will be plenty. Times are good here, and the prospects of peace and plenty make every person cheerful."

We hope to hear from our friend often.

NEW BOOK.—"Sunshine and Shadow in New York," is the title of a new book just published by J. B. Burr and company, Hartford, Conn. It is well printed, and contains a large number of very fine engravings. It is a book that every person can read; indeed, it is a book that old and young of both sexes should read.

The author says: "My purpose in this book has been to draw the Great Metropolis, with its lights and shades, in a series of graphic papers—to sketch New York as I have seen it. From original and reliable sources, I have drawn my information and material for these sketches. I have selected representative men, and have attempted fairly to present their characteristics, and usually, as their friends would wish to see them. Of things and places, I have drawn from my own knowledge, or observation." Sold only by subscription.

FIRE CLAY.—We have just been shown a specimen of fire clay, taken from an inexaustable bed of the same kind, on Sandy Ridge, belonging to J. Miller & Son. This company, we understand, have commenced operations, and are making fire-brick, of a very superior quality, by the million. The character of these brick have already become so notorious that orders are being sent from different States. Car loads have been shipped over seven hundred miles.—Messrs. Miller & Son are very enterprising and deserving men, and are realizing a fortune out of lands which, a few years ago, were considered almost worthless. Centre county is now (barring her copperhead politics) one of the most wealthy and respectable counties in the State. What will she be when her iron, coal, clay and other mines are fully developed, and her politics redeemed from the curse of the copperhead ring.

A SINGULAR PROPOSITION.—Dr. Sage has undoubtedly discovered a perfect specific for Catarrh, judging from the universal satisfaction and approbation which we hear expressed by several persons who have used it. R. V. Pierce, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y., the proprietor, as will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, has so much confidence in the Remedy, as to offer a standing reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh that he cannot cure. The remedy is said to be very mild and pleasant to use. It may be procured by enclosing sixty cents to the proprietor, or of any Druggist in the land.—Toledo Blade.

GLASS FRONT.—Graham & Son, Manufacturers of Boots and Shoes, have given additional evidence of their enterprise, by taring out the old and putting a new Glass front in their store. The new front is indeed beautiful. The nice large clear glass in the windows, was manufactured by Jacob V. Thomas, Bro. & Co, at the Bellefonte Glass works. Graham & Son, have an excellent stock of Boots and shoes which they offer very low. They do business in a fair, open, upright manner, and their new glass front gives them additional light and comfort. While they are feeling good over this improvement, the people should avail themselves of this opportunity, to purchase their needed supply of Boots and shoes. If you want a good bargain, go at a man when he is in a good humor.

ABOUT ADVERTISEMENTS.—Do not fail to read advertisements. The person who takes a newspaper now-a-days, and neglects to read over the advertisements, is apt to lose much valuable information. The advertising patronage of a paper indicates not only the enterprise of the city and county where it is published, but it is also an infallible proof that the business men are possessed of vim and goaheadativeness. Show us a business community who don't advertise, and we'll show you a community where business is stagnated. The man who advertises in a liberal, yet discreet manner, is sure to take the lead of his neighbor who don't spend a cent for printer's ink. It is also conceded that the man who advertises, keeps a larger, better and more complete stock of goods, and sells them cheaper than the man who don't advertise. If you want good bargains, call on the man who advertises.

ALL RIGHT.—The enterprising firm of George & Joe P. Blymyer, at Milroy, Mifflin county, Pa, is still O. K. The Messrs. Blymyer spare no pains to accommodate their customers, and moreover they are not too penurious to pay the printer for advertising. They believe in printers ink, and they use it.—The result is seen in their business. Every year, or two at least, they buy a new farm or a large mill property. Only a few weeks ago they purchased the Lewistown Mills (formerly known as Sterrett's), for the handsome sum of $35,000. What old fogy will say, in the face of all these facts, that advertising "don't pay," or that it is no use, "the people all know me." If our readers will observe, these old fogy business men do not buy much mill property, nor do they sell many goods, and what is more, they do not deserve any better treatment. They do not deserve to be patronized. Blymyer & Co., are live men—true men.

BUY YOUR GOODS AT HOME.—The Jamestown (N. Y.) Journal denounces a prominent citizen and politician of that place for purchasing a handsome family carriage in the east, when he could have bought a vehicle of equal beauty, style and durability at home, and truly says that the obligation to patronize home industry is incumbent on all good citizens; it is especially so in the case of a public man, whose example to others, and patronage, are valuable as an advertisement to the artisans of whom he purchases. It is a mistaken policy that goes abroad to trade, even though there is a small saving in dollars and cents—whether that policy be adopted by a private citizen or a public functionary.

This is the true doctrine, and our people should make it a point to purchase, if possible, every thing they need, at home. If you want a good carriage, good buggy, or a good spring wagon, you can be accommodated, both in style and price, by calling upon Messrs. Shirer & Williams, at the Milesburg carriage-works. See advertisement.

For the Republican.

MR. EDITOR:—I am a traveling Agent; and, in order to find out the names and whereabouts of men in the different towns I visit, I generally consult the county papers. Happening to step off the train at the Milesburg station, I procured one of your papers to ascertain the names of the various mercantile men of that beautiful little town. After perusing the paper with eagerness, I was astonished not to find at least the notice of one of the many mercantile men of that town. I tried to conjecture the cause, and asked myself the question, is it possible that the mercantile business of the town is so poor as not to justify the merchants in advertising, or is it penury and tight-fisted stinginess? Perhaps if I had taken the pains to visit the fences, or some dilapidated shop, I might have found a poster bearing the information I desired. But, with one exception, no such information is found in the public prints of the county, and yet I am told that some of the merchants of that town are doing a lucrative business in the mercantile line. It being impossible to visit the residences of gentlemen, without, at least, a formal invitation, I was almost induced to pass by; but, on visiting the place, I found some seven stores, including a drug store, doing a business sufficient to justify them in sustaining a business directory filling, at least, two columns of your interesting paper, and yet the people in other parts of the county would not know from the public prints, that there was a store in all the town. Mercantile men of Milesburg, issue your proclamation! Invite one and all to call and examine your stock, and thereby increase your business, and confer a lasting favor on a traveling

AGENT.

For the Republican.

PLEASANT GAP AND VICINITY.—This village is traversed from north-east to south-east, by the Lewistown and Bellefonte turnpike. It is bounded on the east and south by the Nittany mountains; on the north by Horntown, and on the west by sundry farms.

How this place came to receive this name, tradition does not inform us; but during the eighteenth Century, Logan, who was surnamed the Mingo Chief, and who belonged to a tribe of Indians then occupying this section of the country, traveled, from a beautiful spring in Mifflin county, which still bears his name, across the Seven mountains, through this Gap, and on to Milesburg, where there was a trading post. This branch of Spring creek was called Logan's branch, and this should have been called Longan's gap, according to this tradition.

Now, a few comments on the place and its inhabitants. The post-office, which is the only governmental institution in the village, is kept by Mr. Henry Eckenroth, a staunch Republican, and an advocate of Negro suffrage. He lost an arm at the battle of Chancellorsville, but continued in service as a commissioned officer. As far as I am aware, he is faithful to his charge. He has a nice home. The hotel; formerly owned and carried on by Mrs. Sarah Corman, was purchased by Capt. Wm. Ickoff, who now carries it on. This is as nice a country hotel as can be found anywhere. The store is kept by Mr. L. B. McEntire, whose undeviating application to business, warrants that he has superior faculties for carrying on such business.—The toll-gate is kept by Mr. John Barnes, who also manufactures segars, and keeps a confectionery. There are two churches and one school-house. The oldest church is the Methodist, and the last one built is called the Lutheran; but I think it is intended to be a Union church, tho' deeded and dedicated a Lutheran. This church is not yet completed, on account of the depression in financial circles.—Rev. Mr. Butler is Pastor of the Methodist church, and Rev. Mr. Hackenberger of the Lutheran. The school-house is not an old one, but it is a very poor one, and should be torn down, and a new one erected, containing two rooms, and then grade the school. It should also contain a town-hall for the purpose of holding all kinds of meetings in. This school, and the Horntown school, could easily be united for the purpose of gradation. This place is improving slowly. There are some nice houses and homes here. The number of inhabitants I am unable to give, since I had no time to take the census. There are nice groves, and any one who likes a nice home, and likes to pick stones, let him come here to purchase land, and his desires will be consummated. I think the majority of the voters are Democrats, although this place contains some of the stiffest Republicans that Centre county can afford. The circulation of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN is not very large, owing to the large circulation of other Republican papers before the REPUBLICAN was inaugurated; but, Messrs. Editors, live in hope, and the circulation of your paper, in this vicinity, will certainly increase, and others diminish. There is a great deal of traveling done along this pike, which makes it quite lively. It appears to be quite a Sunday resort for Bellefonte folks, and for pleasure rides for them.—Horntown, alias Harrisonville, as I stated before, lies north, or rather, north-east of this place. It is merely a combination of dilapidated structures, almost uninhabitable, except a few; still there is a class of people apparently eager to secure such houses at a low figure of rent. Horntown has obtained such eminence in history, that the citizens deny the name when they get five miles from home, and call it Harrisonville, because there are so many Harrisons (all good and industrious citizens) living there. At present this community is gifted with the residence of a large number of the township officers., which, no doubt, will have a tendency to increase public interest and trust. No doubt the peace will remain unmolested, the roads belonging to the township improved, new school houses erected and new teachers employed, all being for the better elevation of the depressed citizens. This place has been favored this year by "the giver of all good and perfect gifts," with an abundant supply of cherries, should He allow them to ripen. The soil here appears to be particularly adapted to the growth of cherries. The gardens present a beautiful appearance, and produce as nice vegetables as the country can afford. The farms in this section of "moral vineyard" produce well, and are generally well improved and very salable. A flouring-mill, and saw-mill are in close proximity to the village. The buildings are all frame or log, except the beautiful brick house, erected last season, by our much esteemed friend, Mr. Jesse Stewart, who is still improving his property, which bids fair to make one of the finest country residences desirable.

The preceding I consider a sketch of this place; not complete, because it would require too much writing.

NON-DE-SCRIPT.

[Our correspondent does not appear to be booked in regard to the source whence Harrisonville derived its name. The facts are as follows:—the land upon which the town now stands belonged to Thos. Harrison, an industrious and respectable mechanic. He laid out the town, and in honor to his enterprise, his neighbors insisted that it should bear his own name. The first house erected in the new town, was by a man named Ellis Horne, hence the name of Horne town. ED]

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Jacob Zimmerman, about 35 years of age, formerly of Boggs tp., this county, met with his death, on Thursday, the 17th inst., by falling from the roof of a barn, upon which he was working, in Cooper Settlement, Clearfield county. Mr. Zimmerman leaves a wife and four children to mourn his untimely death. He was a good citizen, and respected by all who knew him.

County Correspondence.

CENTRE HALL, June 21, '69.

EDITORS REPUBLICAN:—A mania, in my estimation, is oftentimes as distressing in its results, as a first-class epidemic. The latter can usually be checked or humanely modified by the application of known remedial agents; the former must "run" until it becomes exhausted, and the patient hopelessly insane, or is gently laid away to rest "for the season."

The pic-nic mania is just now raging in this vicinity with unexampled fury, devastating rural arbors and milking-yards most deplorably. We have now appointed an Advisory Committee, and at our last meeting it was thought best to have two of our recherche bucolic entertainments, each week, during the season. There is nothing like system in these matters. Without it, pic-nics are viciously disposed to wobble. We may properly mention, at this point, that the policy of carrying our horse-feed along in the shape of corn on the cob, and shelling it in the carriage boxes during the trip, has been vetoed, the farmers along the line entering such vigorous remonstrances, and declaring their swine-herd alarmingly depleted, and the remaining shoats little less than porcine maniacs. On our last trip, seventeen farmers were out in active pursuit of wayward hogs, enticed from home by the seductive music of our economically arranged cornshellers,

We have also advanced a step in our system of economy. The application of greenbacks to the requirements of pic nics, and the most economical outlay of whatever luere may be conveniently in our several pockets, having been under advisement, the committee unanimously resolved that the practice of expending three, four, and, as proven on one occasion, five dollars for the use and pleasure of a small but select company of thirty couples, is embarassing and demoralizing in the highest degree, and should, in the future, be discarded. The practice of giving landlords the cold shoulder, and escorting our ladies to the residences of their relatives and friends for dinner, will still be adhered to, and, under certain circumstances, the invitations to our ladies will be exten ded only with the proviso that they shall receive our company and lemonade in exchange for dinners with their relatives and acquaintances. This worked very well on our last trip, and as we brought the girls home supperless, the expense for the entire party was something less than $3 35, and one of the girls—a chamber maid, receiving $1 50 per week—paid $3 of that.

At the earnest solicitation of inexperienced rural friends at the Bank, Millheim, Osceola, Aaronsburg and Bellefonte, we have consented to give one of our grandest entertainments, in the highest style of art, on the 3d of July. It was decided, at our last meeting, that, as this would most likely be the pic nic of the season, no expense should be spared to ensure its success beyond peradventure. The creme de la creme only will receive printed invitations, although, to guard against any possible failure, we have decided to send out some 40 odd additional invitations to second class, and, in some cases, no class of person at all. You see the party will partake, somewhat, of the nature of a surprise.—Just imagine the astonishment of the ladies and gentlemen from Bellefonte, Potter's Mills, Boalsburg, etc., on the arrival of the lay delegations from the classic regions of the Loop, Poe Valley, New Lancaster, the wilds of the Seven mountains, Diamond Valley and the Bear Meadows. And the facial contortions, and the high order of nasal elevations that will prevail!! Won't it be a jolly surprise? Of course, many will be justly indignant at the "little game," and perhaps break away, but if we can once get them in line, we count our troubles over. The ladies have been earnestly requested to cook for two meals instead of the usual single meal, and they will, of course, breakfast at home. Knowing our method of doing business, of course the ladies readily understand that invitations are extended them with the express stipulation that unless the two meals are forthcoming, their company can be dispensed with.—So, "cut bait, or wade ashore." To make the affair as novel as recherche, the committee on Barns have secured the rental of a commodious stable near the Seven Mountains, and the contract expressly states that not less than three, nor more than five tons of new sorrel-top grass shall be conveniently spread about the premises. The barn belongs to a widow lady, in rather indigent circumstances. She will, however, be measurably relieved, and placed beyond any immediate prospect of starvation, as she receives all the oats and refuse corn left over by our animals. We believe in being generous to the "widow and the fatherless," and she has five small children. We shall do our dancing in the widow's barn, and break up in time to allow the girls to reach home in due season to do the milking, and finish the chores preparatory for Sunday. Who says the elements of fire and water, common sense and musty gingerbread snobbery will not fuse on the 3d of July? We shall see what we shall see. As this affair engrosses all our attention at present, the supply of locals is, as you see, delightfully meagre.

MCCRACKEN.

FISHING EXCURSION.—It appears that the report of a fishing excursion sent us last week, and which we published, was not correct, and did injustice to the ladies as well as the balance of the party. Persons reporting for our columns sho'd be careful to give facts, and not mix up any of their own little envies or jealousies. The party, we are happy to learn, consisted of seven couples, who enjoyed the excursion very much. The party was gotten up for the purpose of enjoying a day of pleasure and amusement, and in this respect it was a grand success.

Y. M. C. A.—A meeting will be held in the Lecture room of the M. E. Church, on Friday evening, the 25th inst., for the purpose of completing the organization of the Young Men's Christian Association in Bellefonte. We hope all, especially the young men, will make it a point, to be present.

UNPRECEDENTED SCOUNDRALISM.—It is a matter of common remark, that as we advance in commercial prosperity as a nation, we also advance in rascality. This is being daily exhibited in our community; but we can assure our readers that at the store of Major Pifer, in the Brockerhoff Row, they can buy all kinds and classes of goods, without fear of rascality being practiced upon them. He has just returned from the Eastern markets with a new assortment of summer goods, which he is selling at very reasonable rates. The Major is one of those persons who believes that he can best secure a competency by honest business relations with all men, and hence he acts accordingly. So call in and see his new goods.

SPRING TOWNSHIP.—The people of Spring township, or a majority of them, are awake to their true interests. When the free schools close, they at once open subscription schools. Two of these schools, taught respectively by H. O. Kline, at Pleasant Gap, and J. M. Zimmerman, at Curtin's mine bank, closed their first session on Friday last. A good school has just commenced at Weaver's school-house, by Miss. Bella Weaver, of Bellefonte. J. D. Miller has commenced the summer term of free school at the Boiling Spring school-house. The interest taken by the citizens in good schools, and education generally accounts for the Republican majorities in Spring township. Education, intelligence and Republicanism go hand-in-hand. With these combined, and the educated youth of the land to take the place of their intelligent fathers, we need have no fears in regard to our liberties or our Republican institutions.

NOVEL WEDDING.—A friend relates us, says the Centre Hall Reporter, the particulars of a novel wedding, which took place a few days ago, in a village not 20 miles west from Centre Hall. The parties, of course, according to the good old established custom, upon which there has not yet been an innovation, were of the opposite sex—he, a bachelor, somewhat advanced in years, she, a widow, much his junior in years. The parties had agreed to meet each other at the said village, at an appointed time, to have welded around them the sweet and blissful bands of Hymen; and meet they did, stung with the mischievous arrow of Cupid—he came on horseback, from one direction, she on foot, from another, and then together they went, and had themselves sentenced to be one flesh and blood for life, as it is written in the good Book that all the sons and daughters of Adam should do. After the knot was tied, our hero gallantly gathered up his bride, placed her behind him on his charger, and sped away with his prize to where he had been accustomed to keep bachelor's hall, henceforth relieved from darning his own stockings, and sewing on buttons, and to be, as we hope, a happier man. The bridegroom, upon being asked why he did not come in a buggy, replied, that he did not feel so certain his bride would meet him at the appointed time and place, hence, by going on horseback, he could not be taunted with being fooled, as no one would suspect his having come to get married in that way. Pretty cute old bach; we warrant the knot will hold. We wish the parties life long happiness, and other things to boot.

PINE GROVE MILLS, June, 19, '69.

This day will be long remembered by many of the children of this place and vicinity. A Sabbath School Celebration, or, as it is termed, a May Day, gotten up by the Lutheran school. Seven schools were represented.

ORDER OF PROCESSION.

Chief Marshall—Geo. Heberling.
Pine Grove Cornet Band.
Sabbath School Scholars.
Ladies and Gentlemen.

Two hundred in procession. They proceeded to the grove where a stand had been erected for the occasion. On arriving there we found the May Queen with her twelve attendants, in waiting, all dressed in white, with wreaths and other fixtures.

EXERCISES.

A beautiful crown of flowers was placed on the Queen's head, and a scepter placed in her hand, with an appropriate speech, to which the Queen replied. Three cheers were given by the children. Vocal music by the schools, led by Dr. W. F. Reiber. Prayer by Prof. J. E. Thomas. Music by the schools.

Speeches by Masters S. Musser and F. Musser, on the anticipated successful reign of the Queen. Music by the band. After which they proceeded to the table, which was well supplied with all that was necessary to satisfy a craving appetite, of which about five hundred partook.

The Marshall called the meeting to order. Speeches were made by Prof. J. E. Thomas and Prof. Hewes, which were interesting and instructive. The band, at proper times, played some of their new and beautiful pieces, which gave life to all present. The children being permitted to go and enjoy themselves, which they did, to their hearts' content; swings and other places had been prepared to gratify them.

At a late hour all returned to their homes, well satisfied, and, perhaps, somewhat fatigued by the exercises of the day.

Parties desiring good music, by Brass or String Band, cannot be better supplied in the county, than by the Pine Grove Cornet Band.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, June 23,'69.

Liming and Salting Hay.

There was, last season, a great deal said about liming hay, and the conclusion arrived at seemed to be that liming was of substantial benefit.—There were several opinions, however, of an opposite character, still the bulk of the testimony was in the affirmative.

Lime, it is claimed, will preserve the hay perfectly, though housed when quite green; and that it will come out in the winter and spring sweet, clean, and of good color, and is eaten greedily by stock, there being no interference by the lime with its nutritious quality.

A farmer in Illinois experimented with the use of lime last year, and was highly pleased with the result. He took two loads of very green timothy and blue-grass, which he put in the middle of the mow of hay in his barn, and marking the place where it was stowed, he sprinkled over it, as it was put in, about one peck of air-slacked lime to the ton, and the hay came out bright and green, and much better than that which had been thoroughly cured before hauling in.

As it is believed that much of the value of the hay crop is taken away from it by the long exposure to the sun in drying it perfectly, there may be some real value in liming process, of which the farmer should have the benefit. We should like to have the views of those who have experimented with the lime, by which, we may arrive at the facts.

Salting hay has been practiced as long as we can remember, but it was done only when the weather made it necessary to house the hay when not fully cured. It was supposed to possess curative properties, as well as to ward off any danger from spontaneous combustion! It is not, however, by modern farmers considered to be of any value in either respect, but to make the hay more palatable to cattle. If hay is sufficiently and properly cured when put away in good dry barns, there need be but little apprehension of its not coming out clean and bright in the spring. Indeed, some farmers think that salt is injurious instead of beneficial, in making the hay to sweat far more than it otherwise would, and this additional moisture causing the hay to mould. We have heard of more than one instance of this, and we have no doubt of its correctness.—Ger. Telegraph.

LIVE CATTLE WEIGHED BY MEASURE.—The only instrument necessary is a measure with feet and inch marks upon it. The girth is the circumference of the animal just behind the shoulder blades. The length is the distance from the shoulder blades.—The superficial feet are obtained by multiplying the girth and length.—The following table contains the rule to ascertain the weight of the animal.

If less than one foot in girth, multiply superficial feet by eight.

If less than three and more than one, multiply superficial feet by eleven.

If less than five and more than three, multiply superficial feet by sixteen.

If less than seven and more than five, multiply superficial feet by twenty-five.

If less than nine and more than seven, multiply superficial feet by thirty-three.

If less than eleven and more than nine multiply superficial feet by forty-two.

Example: suppose a pig to measure in girth two feet, and length one foot nine inches. There would then be three and a half feet, which multiplied by eleven, gives thirty-eight and a half pounds as the weight of the animal when dressed. In this way the weight of the four quarters can be substantially ascertained during life. —Southern Cultivator.

HOG WISDOM.—A Chester Co., Pa., correspondent of the Southern Planter and Farmer says:—

No animals deteriate faster than swine. The trough is a great element in the character of a hog; he is amazingly like a dandy. To keep him in first rate trim, he soon eats his head off; yet, if he has to hunt his food, even with the slightest effort, he soon becomes too enterprising to be a fine specimen. As soon as a pig becomes enterprising, he ceases to be a "Chester county White." Dame Nature soon fits him to this new order of things; his nose lengthens, the disposition to use it also increases, his legs grow longer, his sides flatten, his hams lose their plumpness, and in one or two generations he is a match in a race for any ordinary dog.

If you want to keep up the breed of good hogs, keep no more than you can keep so lazy they will not grunt.

BRUSH pastures, or those on which bushes of various kinds are gradually encroaching, may be nearly cleared in one or two seasons by feeding down with sheep. Cut the brush with a bush-hook, or scythe, and soon after turn the sheep in. They will knaw down the succulent young growth, kill the roots of the bushes, and thrive upon the diet. It is best, however, to decidedly overstock the pasture for the most thorough work, the animals being kept on but a few days at a time through the hot season.

Thinning Out Fruit

It may be considered somewhat early to make suggestions on the subject of thinning out fruit, but it can never be too early to give good advice, and we think that as pear and peach trees are beginning to show their product, the thinning out process may be begun at almost any time.

It is true the operation can be performed conveniently only upon such trees that are not over large. But it should be especially attended to in young trees, which frequently overbear, to the great injury of the health of the trees, as well as the quality of the fruit. To obtain the finest specimens of pears, they should not be allowed to grow in clusters or in contact with each other, and all that exhibit the least imperfection should be removed. What is lost in number will be doubly made up in size and flavor. This should be remembered. Many persons regard the thinning out of peaches, pears, and apples as so much loss; but they are not judges of fruit, and have no knowledge of its proper culture. They want as large a crop as possible, letting the quality take care of itself, no matter how much the tree is damaged and what effect it may have on the following years crop.

On some of our own pear trees last year we removed three-fourths of the entire crop, and afterward found the tree to contain more than was advisable.

It goes hard with some people to diminish the quantity of fruit upon their trees. Sometimes they plead want of time; but this is not admissable, for if they have not time to attend to the proper cultivation of fruit they should abandon it altogether.—The real cause is their greediness.—You can't make them believe that they are the gainers by destroying a portion of the crop, saying that nature is the best judge as to the quantity of fruit. Such persons have no practical knowledge of fruit-raising, the sooner they give it up the better it will be for them, their pockets and reputation.—Ger. Telegraph.

Clover and Timothy.

A. Hadley, in a communication to the Northwestern Farmer, gives what he regards three important reasons why clover sho'd always be grown with timothy. First, the clover being tap rooted penetrates deeply, stands drouth, mellows the soil, and the timothy grows much stronger and holds up the clover. Secondly, if sown for pasturage the timothy almost universally prevents the clover from swelling the cattle. Thirdly, hay is too binding, especially for cattle, and clover too washy, (succulent,) hence both together are better either alone. To these the Country Gentleman adds, under the head of the first, that where grass comes in a rotation, it is of the utmost importance on a clay soil that at least a part of this grass crop be clover. It will serve to mellow and loosen the heavy soil in a remarkable degree, so that when turned over with a plough it will not only be rich, but loose and friable. If, on the other hand, timothy alone is sown, (which some do because the hay sells better,) the sod will turn over heavy and clammy and be unfit for any crop which is to follow. The same correspondent says that he is partial to rye for calf or sheep pasture, which he occasionally sows in the summer or autumn after a crop of corn; and then, after pastured, it is turned under for a crop-corn, if the soil be strong enough—or it may be allowed to go to harvest.—Mass. Ploughman.

TO DESTROY RATS AND MICE.—One of the surest and most available poisons for this purpose is carbonate of baryta, a dry, white tasteless powder, adapted to mingle with any liquid.—In using it mix it with good dripping meal, or beat it with the raw flesh of a fish, so as to make it a relishing paste for them to eat. If it be used for the destruction of troublesome rats, take a piece of raw fish and rub the powder well into it with a stick. Care must be taken to place the bait that only the vermin intended to be destroyed by it shall have access to it, as it is a deadly poison, alike destructive to dogs and any animals that will eat the preparations of which it forms a component part. Always burn the baits that have been set over night, as the surviving vermin will seldom touch that which has been hauled about by those who have feasted upon and been destroyed by it.—Hearth and Home.

SALT AND WATER IN PASTURES.—If animals at pasture can drink when ever they wish, they will never take a great deal at a time, but if they drink only twice or three times a day, they will frequently swallow surprising quantities, and we cannot believe this healthy. Animals will lick salt twice a day, or every day or two, if it is always within their reach, but if given salt occasionally they must not be allowed to take all they wish at once.

CORNS.—One teaspoonful of tar, one of coarse brown sugar, and one of saltpetre. The whole of them warmed together. Spread it on kid leather the size of the corns and in two days they will be drawn out.

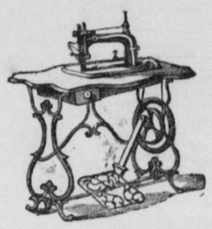
PASTURES.—Be crreful not to overstock those pastures depended upon for the summer. Top-dressings of bone-dust, guano, ashes, gypsum, super-phosphate, or fish manure, will tell at once.

THIRTY-FIVE thousand wild pigeons were shipped east one day last week from Oakfield, Wisconsin.

SEWING MACHINE.

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE OVER-SEAMING AND SEWING MACHINE COMBINED.

MEDAL AWARDED AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.



In directing attention to the celebrated COMBINATION BUTTON HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE, we feel fully warranted in claiming for it unquestionable superiority over all others as a Family Machine.—The Simplicity, Ease and Certainty with which it operates, as well as the uniform excellence of its work, certainly place it far in advance of any other similar invention of the age.

It is also the cheapest, intrinsically, as well as the best, since it is really two machines combined in one, (by a simple and beautiful mechanical arrangement never before accomplished by human ingenuity,) making either the Lock Stitch or Button Hole Stitch, as occasion may require. It is, at the same time, simple in construction, comparatively noiseless, easily understood, and, in a word, it combines with those advantages exclusively its own the most desirable qualities of all others, for it not only does every variety of sewing in a SUPERIOR MANNER, but in addition OVERSEAMS splendidly and makes beautiful BUTTON and EYELET HOLES in all fabrics. This is far beyond the capacity of any other machine.

The SPLENDID MECHANISM of this Machine, and the superior skill workmanship and materials employed in its construction, are a guarantee of accuracy, strength and durability, and enable the company and its agents to Warrant Every Machine they sell to give entire satisfaction.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN ON THE MACHINE GRATUITOUSLY.

ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

This company is composed of practicable mechanics, and Samuel Adams, one of the Co., has been foreman of the Bellefonte Planing Mill since its commencement.

Connected with the mill, and in operation at all times, is one of the latest improved

Lumber dried in a Coke kiln, is dried perfectly, and when worked and put up, will not thus giving buildings the appearance of having been erected out of Green Material.
